

Racquetball Association of Ireland

Anti-Discrimination & Anti-Harassment Policy

Policy Statement

The Racquetball Association of Ireland has in place practices which are designed to ensure that all members are protected from discrimination and harassment, and that claims of discrimination and harassment are dealt with speedily and constructively.

The Racquetball Association of Ireland believes that in a civil society discrimination and harassment are unacceptable and, furthermore, that staff and patrons can be adversely affected by incidents of discrimination and harassment in facilities. Staff have a responsibility to provide an environment that is free from harassment and discrimination in all forms, including those based on race, ethnicity, gender, ability, disability, sexuality and religion. This policy is intended as a framework document, allowing the Racquetball Association of Ireland flexibility to accommodate local needs and circumstances. However, the policy directs that the Racquetball Association of Ireland take responsibility for establishing mechanisms and procedures to actively counter discrimination and harassment. This recognizes the increasing involvement of management to local level.

This Anti-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy is further supported by a range of legislation.

Definitions

1. Discrimination

- Refers to any behaviour or practice which reflects an assumption of superiority of one group over another;
- Is behaviour which disadvantages people on the basis of their real or perceived membership of a particular group; and
- Includes such behaviour as less favourable treatment, unfair exclusion, and asking discriminatory questions.

1.1. Direct discrimination takes place when a person treats another person, on the basis of an attribute or characteristic, less favourably than a person without that attribute or characteristic. These attributes or characteristics could include gender, marital status, pregnancy, parental status, family responsibilities, sexuality, ethnicity, age or disability.

1.2. Indirect discrimination takes place when a person imposes a condition, requirement or practice which is unreasonable or disadvantages a member of a group who shares or is believed to share an attribute on the basis of gender, marital status, pregnancy, parental status, family responsibilities, sexuality, ethnicity, age or disability. Indirect discrimination can also occur when groups or individuals are treated as being the same, although they are different. By not taking differences into account, one group or individual benefits at the expense of the others.
